

ISHR NAS Women's Initiative

Mission: Our mission is to develop an initiative tailored to help guide members through the challenges faced by women in science. The program's intent is to promote professional advancement through raising awareness of unconscious bias, providing strategies members can implement to increase professional confidence, be empowered to overcome challenges, and be guided towards creating equality in the field of cardiovascular science. The program is open to all, including ECI, MCI, men and gender diverse individuals.
