

Kazuko Tajiri, MD, PhD, is the Chief of the Department of Cardiology at the National Cancer Center Hospital East in Japan. Dr. Tajiri received her MD from the University of Tsukuba in 2003 and her PhD in Medical Sciences from the Graduate School of Comprehensive Human Sciences at the University of Tsukuba in 2012. She completed her residency in Internal Medicine at Kumamoto University and its affiliated hospitals in 2004, followed by a Cardiology fellowship at the University of Tsukuba in 2008. Her research focuses on cardio-oncology, particularly the interactions between the cardiovascular and immune systems in both clinical and basic research.