

I graduated from Fukushima Medical University in Japan in 2016. After completing clinical training, I entered the Graduate School in the Department of Cardiovascular Medicine at Fukushima Medical University in 2020. I am conducting basic cardiovascular research to elucidate the underlying molecular mechanisms of heart failure. Currently, my main research topic is how epigenetic regulation is involved in the pathophysiology of HFpEF.