

Toshiyuki Ko

Department of Cardiovascular Medicine, The University of Tokyo Hospital

EDUCATION

The University of Tokyo, Tokyo, Japan

- M.D., 2004~2010

The University of Tokyo, Graduate school of Medicine, Tokyo, Japan

- Ph.D., Cardiovascular Medicine, 2014~2018

JOB HISTORY

St. Luke's international hospital, internship, 2010-2012

Sakakibara Heart Institute, clinical fellow of Cardiology, 2012-2014

Research Fellowship for Young Scientists, Japanese Society for the Promotion of Science, 2017-2019

The University of Tokyo Hospital, Department of Cardiovascular Medicine, Project Assistant Professor, 2020~

AWARDS (International conference)

- 2024 Philip K. Caves Award, International Society for Heart and Lung Transplantation (ISHLT)
- 2022 Richard J. Bing Award for Young Investigators (finalist), International Society for Heart Research
- 2021 Melvin L. Marcus Early Career Investigator Award (finalist), American Heart Association
- 2018 First prize of Young Investigator's Award, European Society of Cardiology etc.

Research Area

- Basic and translational research for Heart Failure
- Gene therapy
- Real world clinical research