

Emiliano Medei, M.D. Ph. D. is a Professor of Physiology (Cardiology) at the Federal University of Rio de Janeiro - Brazil. He is also an associate researcher at I'Dor Institute in Rio de Janeiro. His Laboratory studies the fundamental mechanisms of arrhythmias and the link between the immune system and electrophysiology - cardioimmunology. His Lab revealed the role of macrophages on cardiac arrhythmias mediated by IL-1B. Dr. Medei was ISHR – Latin American Section President 2020-2021.